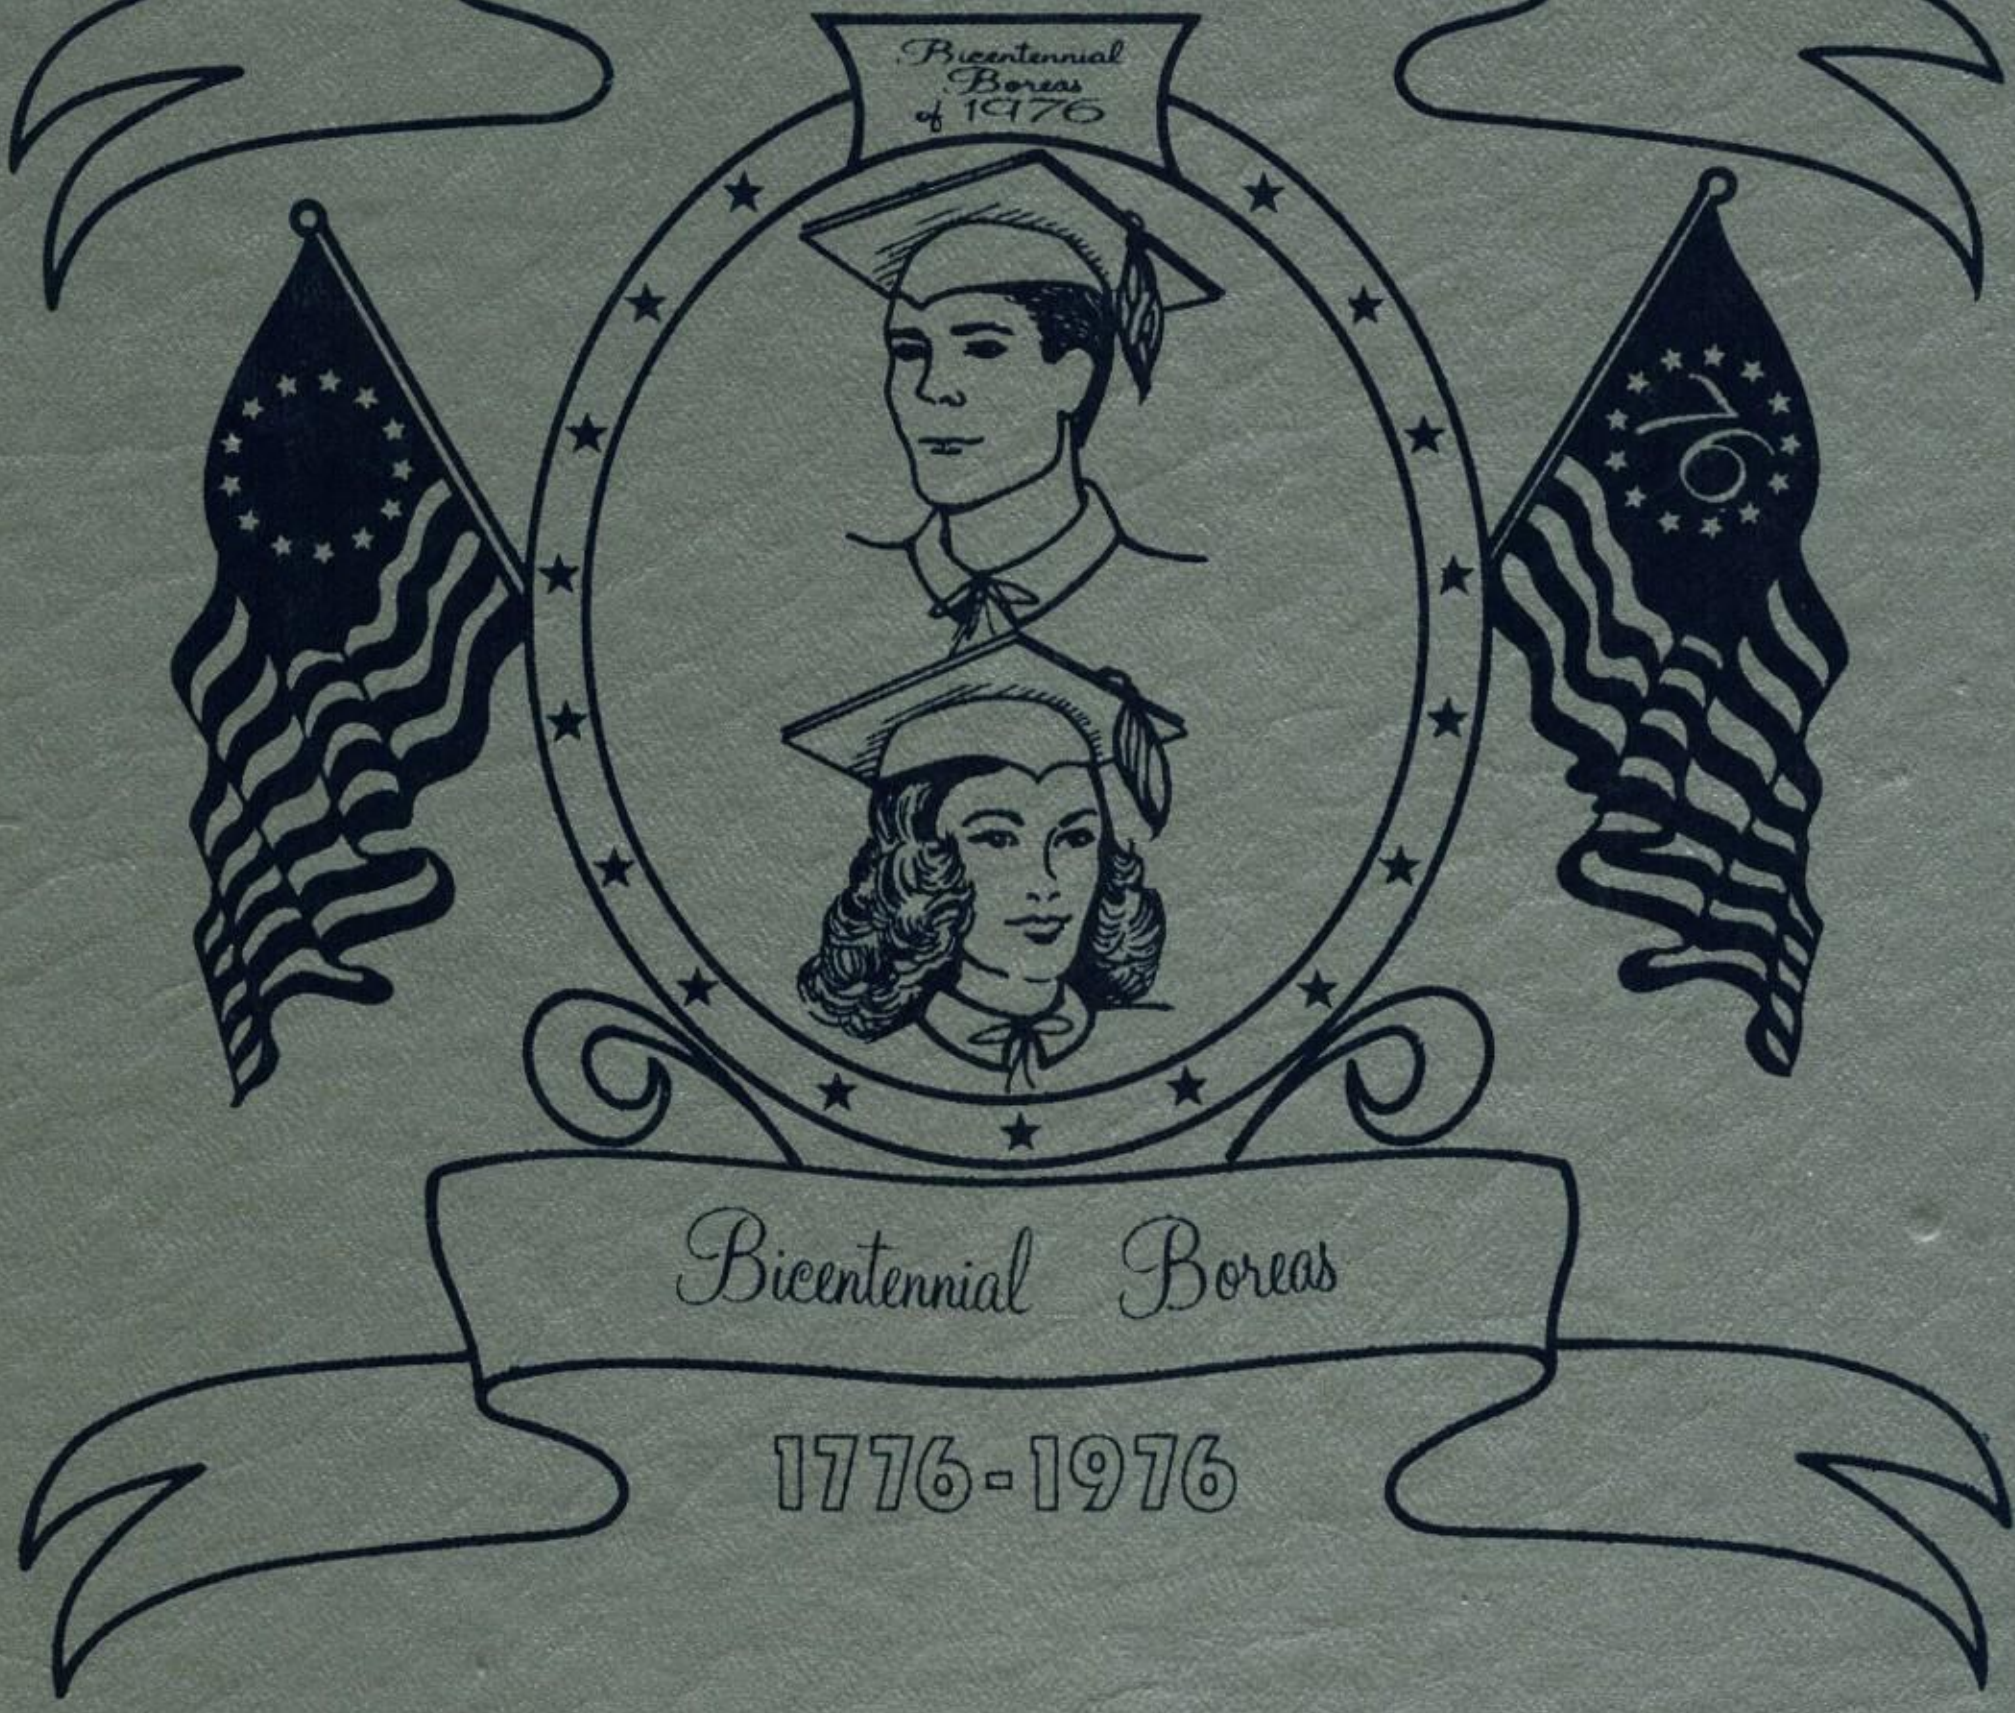
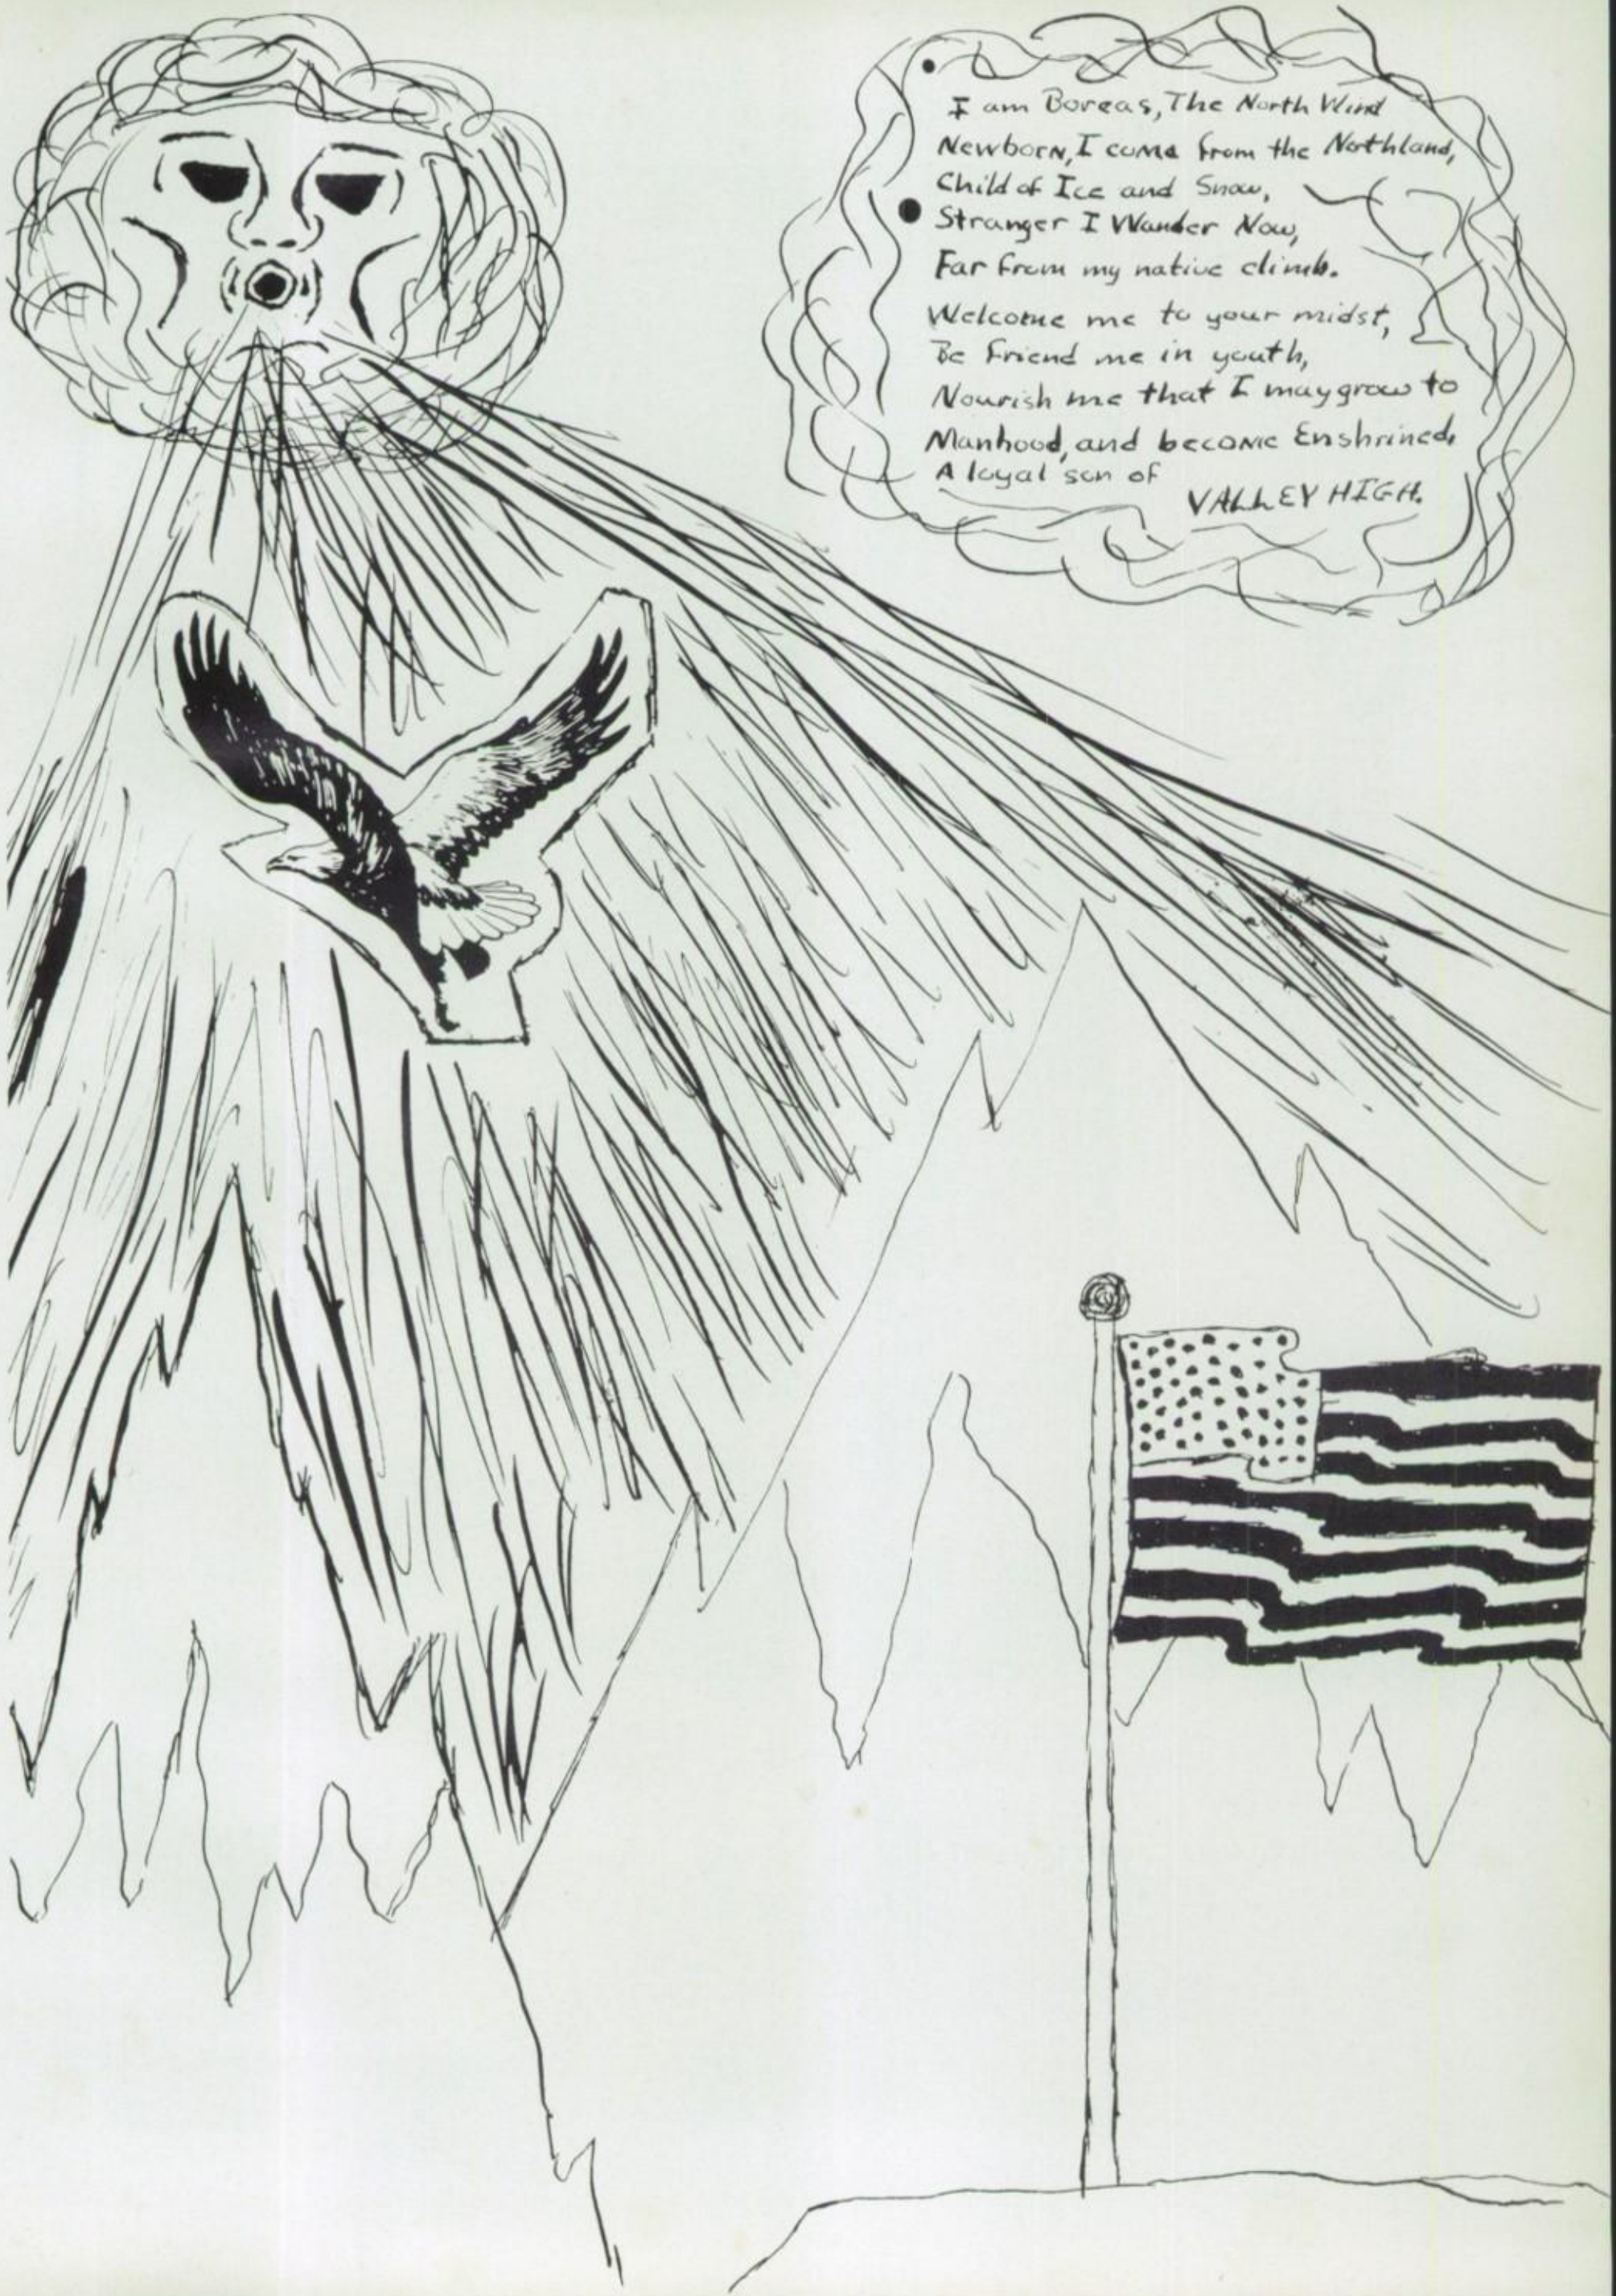
Valley High School



Bicentennial Boreas

1776-1976



I am Boreas, The North Wind
Newborn, I come from the Northland, Child of Ice and Snow,
Stranger I Wander Now,
Far from my native climb.
Welcome me to your midst,
Be Friend me in youth, Nourish me that I may grow to Manhood, and become Enshrined
A loyal son of VALLEY HIGH.

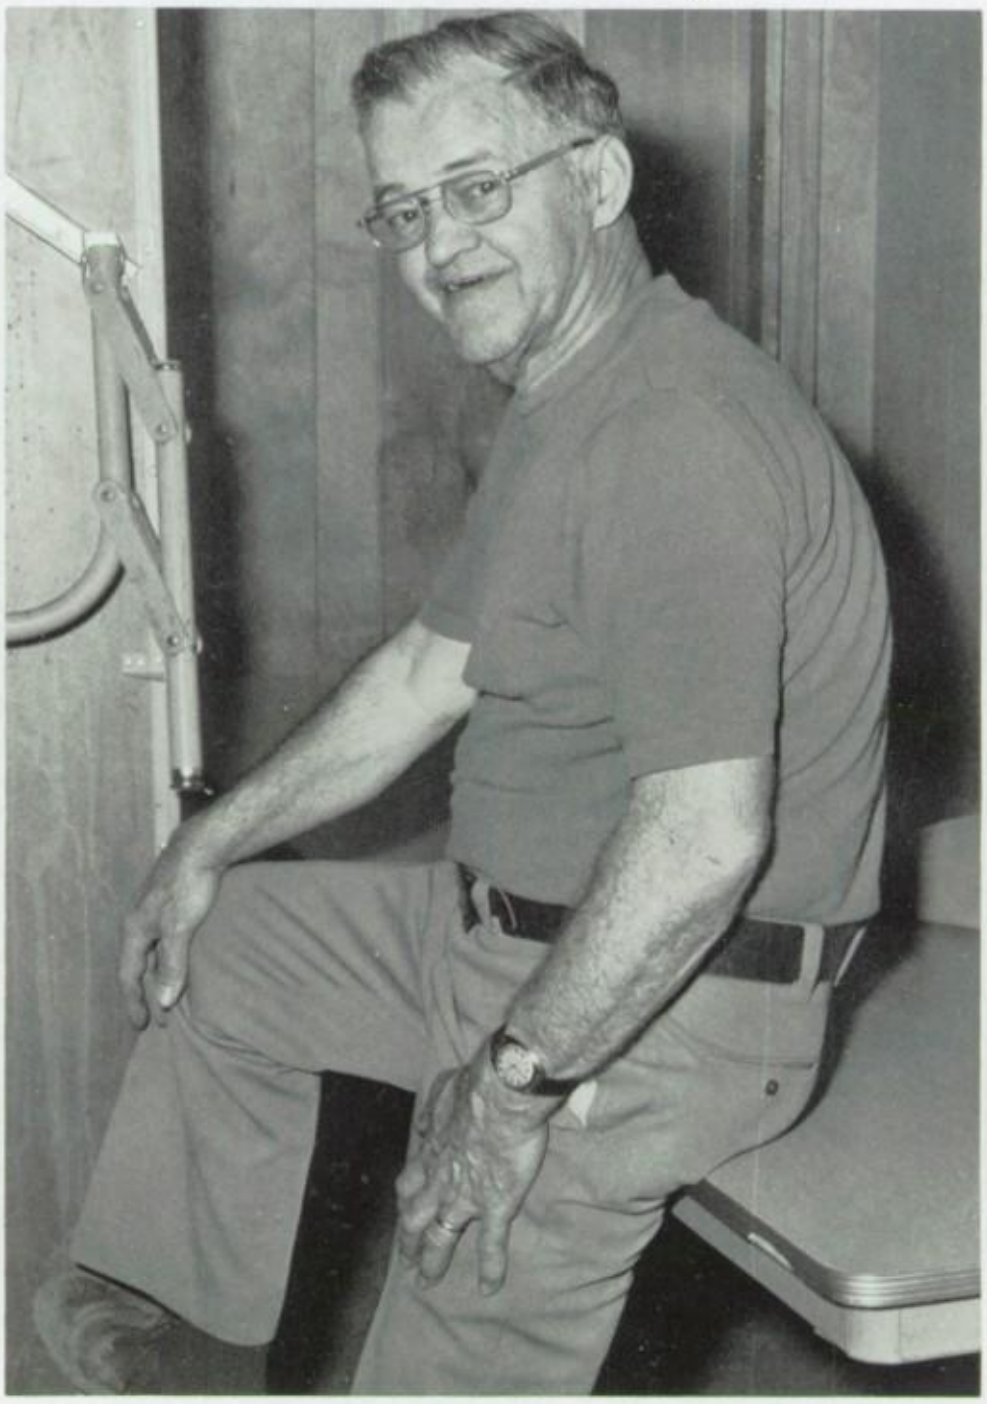
We, the Bicentennial Class of 1976



wish to dedicate this, the forty-second edition of the Boreas, to Walter Sterling, whose fourteen years of service at Valley will long be remembered. Both the faculty and the students wish to thank him not only for these services, but also for his extraordinary personality with which he took our jibes with such good nature.

We hope that Mr. Sterling's years at Valley were as happy as we are sure his years of retirement will be, and that he can now dedicate all of his time to the Red Sox.

Senior Reflections

See the flower in the sand between the pebbles and the stone. How, pray tell can the little blossom grow with the pain of squeezing through no water and no love?

It's such a journey on and on. The starlight brightens the blossom and the dew quenches its thirst. But to slip in between the crack of life without love is insane.

Margret

In the woods is where I'd rather be,
Alone by myself - the animals and me
Watching the snow fall silently to the ground.
I'm full of wonder - it makes not a sound.

Blaine

NATURE

Have you ever wondered what life would be like without birds flying in the sky? Or have you thought at all about not being able to see deer running wild?

Worse yet, consider not ever hearing crickets outside your window at night, or perhaps never seeing a tadpole swimming in a pond.

Well, luckily, Mother Nature has seen to it that all these do exist and others besides; but if we keep messing around with Nature, we may be in trouble. Remember, "It's not nice to fool Mother Nature!"

Jessie

JUST A FRIEND

We'll meet again, you and I,
Sometime when we least expect to.
We'll laugh and talk of old times
And memories.
We'll tell of our new lives and plans . . .
And friends.
But it will never again be the same.
Between us, that is.
We'll meet again some day,
But then you'll be . . .
Just a Friend.

Dianna

A FRIEND

People may come and people may go,
How they effect our lives we may never know.
But there's one thing we know about a friend,
It's someone who's there to the very end.

Susan

Darkness descended rapidly on the broken sea while the massive Clipper drew threateningly close to the barrier reef.
As the raging storm reached its climax,
a thundering crack split the night.
Slowly the ship sank to its deathly end.

The glassy sea shimmered softly in the pale light.
Gulls soared brilliantly in the turquoise sky
as a massive clipper sailed elegantly along.
A new day had dawned.

SOLITUDE

There we sat . . .
  just he and I.
We could see all around but were sheltered from others seeing us.

It was beautiful hearing children near by playing and us sitting there without play, just thoughts and each other.

THANK-YOU

Light as a feather you came in.
You opened my eyes to love and life.
Taking my hands in yours you showed me the way through the darkness and corruption into the sunlight.

Joanne

THE EARTH

The mass that we have started wars upon is our home.
This thing that we have created a problem for called pollution is also called home.
And the form that "We the People" started crime and corruption upon is home also.

Then if "We the People" don't start to straighten out these problems soon, our home, which is called Earth, may get back at us with a thing FAR worse called "Extinction."

It's our choice!

Jessie

THE LASTING CYCLE

Do you see that tree in the backyard?
It has bloomed to its best now.
And here we are at our best, too.
But those leaves which stand so strong will change from time to time and disappear for the needs of it.
Yet even in their absence
what is there will stand firm.
I, too, will be going away soon, and when the time comes that I shall again return to you, the tree will be ready to continue its new and lasting cycle.

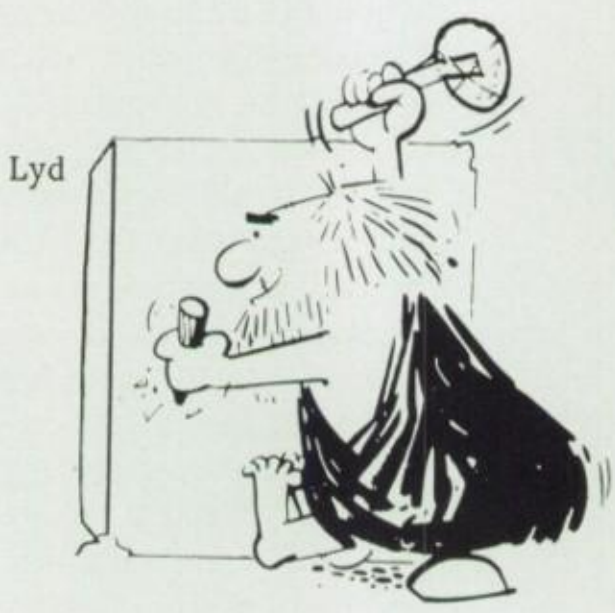
The imprint of time has been carved in the face of beauty.
The nose of the mountain has crumbled with the pressure of ages long gone;
but as the sun's bright rays fade to rose-like innocence, the cruel hard lines turn to soft wrinkles of old age.

Margret

B.T.C.

Low walls, dirty tiles
Wide windows to see for miles.
If you want an hour there's hard iron chairs,
Small white beds away up stairs.
I tell you now, you'll hate the looks,
Dim colors and rows of books,
One picture on each wall,
You can't do many things at all.
God send us a little ground,
Tall trees standing all around,
Dead flowers in brown sod.
Over head, thy stars-O-God -
God bless when cold winds blow.
They make us wear old dirty blue jeans,
On Saturday they make us eat beans.
I tell you, this is no place for me.
You wouldn't like it at B.T.C.



Yeah, I'm a senior, so what about it?
So there's only two weeks left of school, and then I'm out in the big world. Can't wait until graduation night . . . it's gonna be great. I'll cruise up front, grab that diploma, say ''thanks buddy,'' and run. S'pose I don't know where I'm running to though.
Before, all I did was follow all the rest of those darn rowdies. I knew I could always find someone at a game, a party, Mac'n Don's, or chowing down at the Canteen after school. But now it's gonna be different. We're all going to take off and try to make it on our own.
Listen to this joke - letting graduation get to him after twelve years of being a hard guy. Oh, geez . . . Yea, it's time to make the scene in class . . .
guess I might even miss that when it's over. Check ya later, buddy!
Thanks, see ya, bye.
It's graduation it's unbelieveable that I'm here. They'll call my name in a few minutes and I'll walk up to receive my diploma . . . where do I go from there? I've always had the security of the school routine and its activities, surrounded by the friends I was so familiar with. Now we'll all be going in different directions, and I wonder how long it will be before the memories that meant so much start to fade. After twelve years of this you would think I would be ready to move on, but I feel like I'm leaving a part of me behind.
Maybe it's good though,
because I really have changed in the four years that I've been here.
Well, pretty soon they'll get to my name. Then I'll be up there, and it'll be all over. In a way, I guess everything's really just beginning.

Ski Team Season Summary

This year's ski teams had a busy season with meets against skiers from Skowhegan, Camden, Rockland, Cony, Stearns, Nokomis, Lincoln, York, Yarmouth, Ft. Fairfield, Greenville, Mt. Abram, and Falmouth. The culmination of the boys' season was on February 20-21 at the State Class D meet at Baker Mountain. There, Valley beat Rockland, Mt. Abram, Stearns, and Lincoln, but finished third behind Falmouth and Greenville. The same six skiers competed against 34 other skiers in the state. The girls' ski team competed in the State Class D meet at Saddleback on February 28. After having been the state class D champions for two consecutive years, 1974 and 1975, the girls reluctantly relinquished their title to Ft. Fairfield. They finished third, one point behind Rockland, and beat York, Yarmouth, and Nokomis. The team will miss seniors Margret Hunnewell, Chris Barnaby, Mike Dionne, and managers Judy Bard, Nancy Lombard, and Lydia Richards. Thank you for your contribution of time and effort.

Bingham's First Settlers

WILLIAM FLETCHER

William Fletcher, Bingham's first settler, was born in Concord, Massachusetts. He married Sarah Frost of Westford, Mass. They came to Canaan in 1771 and to Norridgewock in 1773. They were in Norridgewock when Arnold went through.

The land he cleared here is now the upper part of Bingham Village. He built a mill on the banks of the Austin Stream. Most of the stores and business blocks of Bingham as well as some of its homes are located on the land which William Fletcher cleared. Murray Street, running east to Bingham Heights, Baker Street, Preble Street, and Whitney Street are part of the Fletcher land.

He died in 1806 and is buried in the village cemetery with his wife.

JOSHUA GOODRICH

Joshua Goodrich, or Capt'n Goodrich as he was sometimes called, was one of the first six settlers of this place. In 1788 or '79, they moved to this town where their youngest child was born. They remained here the rest of their lives. Joshua served in the war of the Revolution. He was always active in public affairs. The first town meeting was held in his house and he was the first town treasurer. He gave the land for the first town cemetery. He built a saw and grist mill on the Mill Brook which was in use for many years. The first schoolhouse was built in front of the cemetary on his land.

WILLIAM BINGHAM

The memory of William Bingham is perpetuated today in the names of Bingham, Maine and Binghamton, New York. Just when the name of Bingham was applied to this town does not seem to be a matter of record.

Mr. Bingham was a man of tremendous mental ability, high honor, and great success in business. He was graduated from the University of Philadelphia in 1768 at the age of sixteen. Mr. Bingham had become one of the business giants of that day and was involved in numerous land speculations. A series of efforts had been made to develop the great wilderness of Maine. This had consistently proved unprofitable. This area was part of Massachusetts which had tried a land lottery, and that had been followed by the efforts of several private companies. Mr. Bingham and General Knox made a plan to take over an immense amount of Maine land.

Benedict Arnold

On the 29th of September, 1975, Arnold's men marched through Bingham in a re-enaction of Arnold's Expedition to Quebec in 1775. Approximately 200 men were in Green's Division A.E.Q. 75. There were many events that took place that day. Included in the parade from the Moscow cemetery to the airport were floats, bicycles, bands, and majorettes. Following the parade there was a mock battle at the airport. There was a bateaux race from the Bingham-Concord bridge to the airport. In the evening there were many public suppers. There were two dances that night.

Some of Bingham's Oldest Houses

The old church built in 1836 is located on the corner of Main street and Bridge St. in Bingham, Maine.

One of Bingham's oldest houses located on route 201 - recently the home of the Roy family was built by Obed Wilson who came from Starks in 1802, cleared the land, and built this house.

This house, located on the corner of Meadow Street in Bingham, is recently owned by Mrs. Richard Hall who lives in Portland, Maine.

Lowell Steward

Concord, Me.

We the Seniors would like to say a special thanks to Pat Laweryson. She has supported all of us at our ball games and events since our freshman year. She has chaperoned our buses so we could go to away ball games. This year she has popped corn, opened sodas, and sliced onions so we could make money at our concessions.

For these and many more favors,

Thank You
